

Contents

INTRODUCTION

Letter from the Editor
by Alexandra Jamieson | Page i

Announcements
Publications by St Anne's Members | Page ii

NEW HORIZONS

Perspectives

Why Artificial Intelligence Will Enable New Scientific Discoveries
by Andrew Briggs, Department of Materials | Page 1

Creative Writing

Sunday Morning Dimsum
by Tiffany Ren, Faculty of English | Page 4

Research

'All models are wrong. Some models are useful'
by Shuchi Vora, School of Geography and the Environment | Page 6

Field Reviews

Oil and Corruption in Africa: Who is to Blame?
by Pierpaolo Crivellaro, African Studies Centre | Page 12

Making the Impossible: An Overview of Additive Manufacturing
by Harry Orchard, Department of Materials | Page 18

Understanding Secularism and Secularisation: A Case Study of India
by Muhammad Bakht Baryar, School of Geography and the Environment | Page 29

Emerging Viral Pathogens: New Threats in Global Health
by Ciaran Gilbride, Doctoral Training Centre in Interdisciplinary Bioscience | Page 37

Meat Without the Animals: Cleaning our Conscience with Clean Meat
by Alex Norman and Pranay Shah, Department of Biochemistry | Page 48

Book Reviews

The Rights of Nature, by David R. Boyd
by Shuchi Vora, School of Geography and the Environment | Page 66

MISCELLANY

Research

San Junipero: The Postmodern Dream of Immortality and the End of Utopia
by Sotirios Triantafyllos, Faculty of History | Page 69

Brazilian Voices in the Making: Paulo Pontes, Chico Buarque and Euripides' Medea

by Fabiana Lopes da Silveira, Faculty of Classics | Page 79

Field Reviews

Understanding the Paleofluid Records: a Case Study of Southern Utah
by Rebecca Tyne, Department of Earth Sciences | Page 87

Book Reviews

NO MONO. Capitalism without corporations, by Walter Oswalt
by Anselm Küsters, Faculty of History | Page 97